* Cliff Knox wrote on October 3, 2002, "State employees (USF employees) are covered while using State (USF) owned vehicles on official business. Further, all USF vehicles are covered by liability insurance through the Florida Casualty Insurance Risk Management Trust Fund. However, big caveat, USF employees are not, I say not, covered if the (USF owned) vehicle is being used for personal travel. Questions regarding student use of USF vehicles? If I may, students are not authorized to drive USF vehicles unless they are employees and have a valid auto license. Furthermore, directing a student to use a vehicle can make that person vicariously liable for any damage, should that occur. In other words, that person directing a student to use a USF vehicle could witness their personal insurance paying for the damage. Lastly, let me reiterate one point, USF vehicles are for official use only, lending out a vehicle to an employee for personal use voids the State coverage. Also, to add insult to injury, the person then driving the vehicle is now the insurer of the vehicle and the person authorizing the use is vicariously liable, also. Any further questions, please give me a call."

Fee Structure:

Gasoline/Maintenance costs are paid by all users at $1.00/mile

Performing Arts units (SOM and SoTD) pay only gasoline/maintenance costs at $1.00/mile. Consecutive day use by Performing Arts units imposes a $20 fee per day after the first day of use.

Consecutive day use by Performing Arts units imposes a $20 fee per day after the first day in addition to mileage-assessed costs after first day of use.

CVPA users outside Performing Arts Division are charged $20 fee per day and $1.00/mile

Parking Policy for CVPA Events

Visitor Parking:

Visitor Parking Policy for College of Visual & Performing Arts

INTRODUCTION (Purpose and Intent)

The public programs of the College of Visual & Performing Arts (performances, exhibitions, lectures, workshops, demonstrations, etc.) are an extension of the academic programs and are considered as normal business and part of the academic schedule or efforts of the university. This policy statement is to define the special conditions related to the availability of parking for visitors, guests and patrons of the arts at the University of South Florida.

STATEMENT OF POLICY

It is the policy of the University of South Florida that all vehicles parking on-campus are required to display a parking permit for long-term parking twenty-four hours a day or utilize the metered spaces (under 2 hours) or timed spaces (under 15 min) for short-term parking. However, during those times when public events are taking place in the College of Visual & Performing Arts, enforcement will be suspended at 7:00pm in Lots 3A (Theatre Centre), 3B (Dance Centre), 3C (Art Museum) and 9A (Fine Arts). This agreement does not affect the enforcement of improper or illegal parking.

PROCEDURES

The College of Visual & Performing Arts will provide performance and exhibition information to Parking and Transportation Services at the beginning of each semester which will outline the planned events for that semester. This information should include 'name', date, place, and time of the event; expected audience; and sponsor's contact. The College office of Associate Dean is responsible for compiling and relaying this information to Parking Services.

Daytime Events

In those instances when activities will take place during the hours of 8:00am and 7:00pm, the sponsor (college unit or office) should make every effort possible to inform those visitors that a daily permit is required. Permits can be obtained by: 1.) Entering through the main entrance (off Fowler) and purchasing a permit at the Campus Information Center; 2.) Receiving a permit from the sponsor prior to their visit to campus; 3.) Purchasing a daily permit from the vending machines located in Lot 3B (Museum); or 4) Having the visitor utilize the parking meters in Lot 3C so that they can obtain a permit from the appropriate office.

Workshops, Conferences, or Symposia

Periodically, the college sponsors or hosts events, workshops, or symposium that bring a large number of visitors to our facilities during the daytime hours. In those instances, the Events & Production Services office or other college office will work with the sponsor and Parking Services to determine the best way to handle the influx of vehicles into the area and will make the necessary arrangements.

Volunteers

The university parking guidelines include a category that provides free parking permits on a semester by semester basis for individuals who volunteer their services to the university or one of its agencies. The Criteria for Volunteer Parking Permits: 1) Individual is volunteering their time and expertise to benefit the university, academic and/or related unit; 2) Individual is not a student, staff, or faculty and is not receiving any kind of payment for their services; or 3) Individual will be on campus for a specific activity during a specific time frame for the above purpose. To obtain volunteer parking permits, the accountable officer of the sponsoring organization will forward a memo to Parking Services including: 1) A list of names of those persons to receive a permit; 2) A statement supporting the request for a volunteer permit (i.e. The listed individuals are volunteering their services for...; are participating as a community member in the Men's Glee Club...; etc.); 3) The specific day/date and times that the individual is expected to be on campus in this capacity including an expiration date. Volunteer Permits are only good for one semester and will need to be renewed accordingly; and 4) A completed Vehicle Registration Form for each individual.

FOH/Box Office Manual:

The Role of the House Management Staff

The house management staff is an essential part of the sales force for the College of Visual and Performing Arts. Think of house management as sales, because after the box office staff makes it possible and enjoyable for a patron to attend the first time, the house management staff makes it enjoyable and likely that a patron will attend again.

House management basic duties include: overseeing the lobby during performances and special events, coordinating the ushers and making the occasional "curtain speech". This job require a team player with strong interpersonal, communication, and organizational skills.

- prepare and train ushers before each performance
- ensure that programs are available for each performance
- coordinate with stage manager to determine when to open theater doors, and keep box office managers informed of status changes
- assist box office manager with crowd control if necessary
- after doors are open, assist ushers with crowd management
- coordinate with stage manager on closing house and starting performances

This is accomplished through efficient, courteous, and professional supervision of the activities surrounding the performance. A patron who enjoys the performance but has an unpleasant experience with the seating, lobby, restrooms, or parking is much more difficult to convince to attend again. Conversely, a patron whose entire experience is one of convenience, comfort, and enjoyment is certain to come back.

In a society that does not emphasize customer service, an organization that puts the customer first will be remembered and rewarded.

House managers and ushers have direct contact with the audience, and consequently have a tremendous influence on that audience's impression of the CVPA. House management and ushering is much more than tearing tickets and handing out programs; it's developing a positive rapport with the public, and demonstrating reasons for that public to come back in the future.

Tasks of House Managing and Ushering

All house managers and ushers are expected to have a working knowledge of the CVPA's facilities and procedures as detailed in this manual. Further, it is expected that all staff have been trained in their particular task and in the several types of emergency procedures (prior to working a performance).

At all times, house management is expected to be friendly, courteous, informed, and cooperative with all patrons. The staff should think of itself as it were working in a luxury hotel with an emphasis on manners, decorum, and ambiance.

A. House Manager

The house manager is in charge of the lobby and house before, during, and after the performance. He/she is the person who schedules, trains, assigns, and supervises the ushers, and is a liaison with backstage and box office staff.

Any patron problem that cannot be handled by an usher is referred to the house manager. Notices announcing unusual effects such as strobes and pyrotechnics must be posted by the House Manager near the entrances to the house. The house manager is also responsible for lobby security: unlocking all appropriate doors prior to the performance and insuring they are all locked again following the show.

B. Ticket Takers

The ticket taker staffs the entrance to the auditorium, taking tickets and detaching audit stubs. The taker checks each ticket for the correct date, time, and event.

The ticket taker also controls unauthorized entrance to the auditorium, limiting access to approved staff and patrons with correct tickets. The ticket taker greets the patrons, making them feel welcome and comfortable. Since food, beverages and cameras are not allowed in the auditorium it is the ticket takers responsibility to inform patrons of this restriction. Event sponsor must provide written authorization to the House Staff for all pre-approved audio or visual recording or photography permitted for an event.

C. Aisle Ushers

Aisle ushers distribute programs and any other materials provided by the marketing staff. They welcome patrons and determine if any need assistance in finding their seats, directing them as necessary.

Aisle ushers staff the auditorium doors to assist latecomers and assure that seated patrons are not overly disturbed by entrances and exits. They also monitor the auditorium during the performance, anticipating for potential patron problems (talking, cameras, food, etc).

D. Appropriate Dress

All house management staff must dress well to represent the University well. The object is to look nice, and yet not be a distraction moving around in the house during a performance.

Women wear black dresses, skirts, or slacks and white blouses. Men wear black pants, dark suits or sport coats, white shirts and neckties.

E. Flashlights and Name Tags

Ushers obtain flashlights from the house manager prior to opening the house. Please return them to the house manager after the performance.

Performance Procedures

A. Prior to Performance

1. Set-up

The house managers arrive at least 75 minutes prior to the curtain time, check in with the box office and staff for introductions, information on running time and expected situations that might have an impact on the orderly management of the performance.

The house and lobby is inspected for trash, missing or broken equipment, unanticipated obstructions to seating. Stanchions, ropes, ticket collections boxes are put into place.

The house managers check to make sure that a sufficient quantity of programs are available. If there are inserts, the programs are stuffed. Any special arrangements (signage, tables, displays) needed for the performance are set up.

If there are any significant problems or issues that require greater authority, the house manager notifies the Events & Production Manager, or box office staff (whichever is most appropriate).

When everything is in order for the performance, all exterior doors to the facility are unlocked. Since the box office opens two hours prior to the performance, the side doors should already be unlocked.

The ticket takers monitor the doors to prevent unauthorized access.

The exterior doors remain unlocked until after the performance for events with no intermission, or until after the final intermission when there are one or more breaks.

The house managers and ushers must be aware of patrons who may have arrived early. Loud conversation or shop talk is inappropriate in front of the public, Artists or Artists staff. Any differences of opinion between staff persons must be conducted discreetly and privately.

2. Training

The ushers arrive one hour prior to the curtain time. When all are assembled, the house manager instructs new personnel on policies and emergency procedures and briefs them on the performance. If all ushers are experienced with procedures, the house manager still goes over expected attendance, length of show, intermissions for the performance.

An occasional short quiz on emergency procedures may be an effective tool in preparing the ushers for any unexpected events. Once training and review is completed, the house manager makes assignments for the performance and has the ushers staff programs (if necessary).

B. Pre-Show

1. Opening House

The house is opened only at the consent of all department managers. Immediately prior to opening, the house managers check all ushering personnel for appropriate dress, and to insure all have name tags and flashlights.

The house is opened to patrons approximately a half-hour prior to curtain time. If there is to be a substantial delay beyond that time, the house managers and ticket takers should inform patrons (particularly those near the house doors) of the delay, including a simple explanation of the cause.

2. Ticket Taking

The ticket taker staffs the entrance to the auditorium, taking tickets and detaching the appropriate stub. The taker should check each ticket for the correct date, time, and event. Persons with incorrect tickets are referred to the box office.

The ticket taker also controls unauthorized entrance to the auditorium, limiting access to approved staff and patrons with correct tickets. The ticket taker should greet the patrons, making them feel welcome and comfortable. The ticket takers also check for food and cameras and inform patrons that these items are not permitted in the auditorium. Items may be checked with House Operations Management.

3. Seating (Reserved)

If patrons are familiar with the auditorium and their seat locations, they may be simply directed towards them. If they are unfamiliar with the facility, they are led to their row and directed to the correct seats. Always offer to assist patrons and be aware of persons already seated who may be having a problem.

When there is a question or problem about seating (two people wanting same seat, etc.), the usher asks to see both parties' tickets. Improperly seated patrons are directed to the right seats politely. Duplicate tickets or other more complicated problems are handled by the house manager, working with the box office. The house managers will have emergency house seats to accommodate last minute seating problems.

4. Start of Show

The house manager coordinates the actual curtain time with the box office and production staff/stage manager. Although it is a policy to start promptly, lines at the box office, technical or artists' problems backstage or inclement weather and parking problems may require a delay. The stage manager, in consultation with the house manager, makes the final determination when to begin the performance.

The house manager rings the curtain bell 5 minutes prior to curtain and again 2 minutes prior to curtain. As curtain time approaches, ushers inform patrons moving about or leaving the auditorium that the show is starting. When the house lights go to half, the main doors are closed. From this point, all patrons are considered latecomers. They will be admitted as soon as possible.

The doors into the house from the lobby will remain unlocked, with the ticket takers monitoring for unauthorized access.

Once the performance begins, the house manager returns the stanchions and ticket collection boxes to their proper storage place.

C. During Performance

1. Latecomer Seating

The house manager remains in the lobby to take care of latecomers. An usher is assigned to stand inside the house by each main entrance to assist with latecomers, prevent gate-crashing, and stop doors from slamming as patrons move in the auditorium and up or down to their seats.

Latecomers are seated at appropriate points in the performance, pre-determined by the artists, stage and house managers. Avoid interrupting quiet musical or dramatic moments; seat latecomers between musical pieces or at movement breaks.

Latecomers are seated in the closest available sections to the door. Inform them they can move to different seats at intermission.

Because of unfamiliarity with the campus or trouble parking on week nights, people may be legitimately late through no fault of their own. Patrons, even ones in error, are treated with courtesy and politely.

If latecomers are to be held for a significant time, make them comfortable, offer programs to read, or allow them to stand near the closed door to hear the performance. If patrons are standing by doors, advise them not to talk loudly and to be prepared for the possibility of exiting audience members.

2. Flashlights

The house manager and usher teams on both sides of the auditorium must have flashlights accessible for emergency use and to assist seating latecomers in a dark theatre.

When using a flashlight, keep it pointed at the floor in front of the patron so they may see where they are going and minimize distraction.

D. Intermission

The house manager establishes the intermission length with the stage manager. As the intermission ends, the house manager sounds the curtain bell in the same sequence as before the performance. Polite reminders to stragglers may be necessary.

E. Post-Show

1. House

Ushers must not open the doors until after the final curtain, or in the instances of concerts, until after the final encore.

While patrons are leaving, ushers check for trash or personal items left behind. Lost items go to the house manager immediately. Once the auditorium is clear, the house doors are unpropped and closed. Flashlights are returned to the house manager; mention weak batteries, faulty switches, etc.

2. Front-of-House

The lobby and restrooms are checked for personal items and trash. When the house and lobby are clear, the exterior doors are closed and locked. The house manager checks out.

General Policies

A. Smoking, Food, Beverages

There is no smoking inside any of our facilities. Food and beverages are prohibited in the auditoriums but not the lobbies.

B. Recording Equipment, Cameras

The use of cameras or recording equipment is strictly prohibited. Persons found using such equipment are asked to stop. If they continue, the house manager should ask the patron to check the equipment at the Box Office until the end of the performance or take it to their car. The patron should be informed that the equipment can be claimed from the house manager after the performance. Such material can be stored in the Box Office during the show. The house manager can also enlist the aid of public safety if deemed necessary.

C. Handicapped Patrons

House managers seat any handicapped patrons. Persons in wheelchairs are seated prior to opening to general audience. Persons who have difficulty with steps are seated on the aisle near the main house entrance. Ideally, such persons will have requested special seating in advance. If not, the house manager may need to make some adjustments to make the handicapped persons comfortable.

In the event of an emergency, One usher will be assigned to remain with handicapped patrons and assist as necessary until the emergency is resolved.

D. Beepers, Pagers, Phones

Pagers checked with the house manager are to be left in the Box Office.

E. Children

To assure safety and fairness, all children other than babes-in-arms will be required to have seats. While we welcome children 5 years and older to performances, the length and content of some programs may not always be appropriate for children. Patrons attending events with babies and small children may be seated in locations determined by the House Manager so they can have easy egress if we must ask them to leave the theatre in the event of disturbances.

Emergency Procedures

A. Injury

1. Call for assistance 911
2. Assess the nature of the injury.
3. Clear the area of other patrons.
4. Reassure the victim and protect him/her from further harm. If the victim has fallen, keep him/her from moving until emergency assistance arrives to begin preliminary treatment. If he/she decides to move, do not attempt physical restraint, as that might cause further injury.

5. Have another staff member take a list of witnesses to the accident, noting their observations and understanding of what occurred. Have the statements signed (they will be attached to the accident report).
6. Fill out an official accident report with the house manager or theatre arts manager on duty and public safety. Forms are available in the production office.

4. Know the location of all interior and exterior emergency exits, as well as the shortest route to them.
5. Know the location of fire extinguishers and how to use them.
Know which extinguishers are used for which kinds of fires.
Check locations in all public spaces ASAP
6. If the fire is minor and may be put out with an extinguisher, direct the discharge at the flame base.
7. Do not use water on a fire near electrical equipment to avoid a potential electrical shock.
8. Once outside, direct patrons to a clear, safe area away from the building. Be available to assist campus police when they arrive.
Keep walkways clear for emergency vehicles. The last staff leaving the building should look out for persons not yet evacuated.
9. Do not return until given the all-clear from Public Safety.
